

17-Year-Old, Glad To Be in "Mix-Up," On List of Killed

James F. Ward Obtained Parents' Consent to Enlist Year Ago

Had Worked in Bank

Herman Datz, New York Newsboy, Also Among Those Slain in Action

James F. Ward, who was listed yesterday as killed in action, was only sixteen years old on June 1, 1917, when he persuaded his parents to allow him to enlist. His home was at 181 East 102d Street and he was employed in the Bank of Commerce when he joined a machine gun company. His mother, Mrs. Margaret Ward, had received a cheerful letter from him only a few hours before the War Department telegram. He wrote that he was in the "mix-up" at last.

For ten years before his enlistment, in 1914, Herman Datz, another private who was killed in action, sold newspapers in City Hall Park. He was also a member of a machine gun company. His brother Joseph, eighteen years old, was on the point of enlisting three months ago when he lost a finger in an accident. They are the children of Mrs. Max Datz, of 383 East Fourth Street. Mrs. Rose Schwartz, of 292 Cherry Street, was attending services in a synagogue when an awe-struck youngster of the neighborhood informed her that a telegram awaited her at home. It told of the death in action of her son, David Schwartz, a corporal in an infantry regiment of the regular army. He had been in France for almost a year.

Telegram a Puzzle

The telegram announcing that Corporal Joseph H. Buckley had been seriously wounded on March 21 was a puzzle to his brother, George Buckley, president of the Crowell Publishing Company, of 381 Fourth Avenue. Mr. Buckley received a letter from his brother, which was written on March 23, saying that he had just been discharged from a hospital as cured after a slight shrapnel wound and that he had sent the bit of shrapnel as a souvenir.

Moreover, the War Department telegram described Corporal Buckley as a member of an infantry regiment, whereas, his brother said, he had enlisted in Chicago, his former home, in an Illinois artillery regiment. In a letter dated May 18 he wrote that he was back at the front again. He is twenty-three years old and an alumnus of the University of Wisconsin.

John W. Lafferty, who died from wounds, was a carpenter, forty years old, living at 443 Bleeker Street, Brooklyn, when he enlisted in an engineering regiment in May, 1917. He went to France within a month.

Quit College to Fight

Joseph A. Drozdowski, reported seriously wounded, gave up a course in St. Peter's College, Jersey City, when he enlisted, in February, 1917. He is twenty-two years old, the son of Thomas Drozdowski, of 150 Steuben Street, Jersey City.

YONKERS, N. Y., June 8.—Sergeant Edward Nesterowicz, of 136 Parsons Street, this city, who died in France from wounds, was an Austro-Hungarian, although a native of Bucharest, Rumania. He was twenty-five years old, and enlisted a year ago.

NEWARK, N. J., June 8.—Corporal Clifford R. Manchester, reported killed in action, was the only child of Mrs. Kate D. Manchester, a widow. He was twenty-two years old, a member of a supplemental gun battalion and enlisted May 29, 1917. Before enlisting he was employed by the Public Service Corporation. Last night the mother, at her home, 26 Watson Street, Newark, was rejoicing with friends over the receipt of a Mother's Day letter from her son.

PORT JEFFERSON, Long Island, June 8.—Second Lieutenant Howell Gassett, of the Marine Corps Reserve, is dead in France, according to information received to-day by his mother, Mrs. Joseph Lynch. A defect in vision which was not discovered until after he was in the service could have been used by him to avoid active duty, but he insisted upon a fighting job and was successful in being assigned to Pershing's first expedition.

He was twenty-two years old and a student in New York University Law School when he entered the service last year.

356 Americans Held In Germany; 5,000 Germans Held Here

(Special Dispatch to The Tribune)

WASHINGTON, June 8.—Seven sailors of the United States navy and 133 American soldiers have been located in German prison camps, according to reports to the War and Navy departments, it was announced to-day. The enemy also holds 216 American citizens, including fifty-five sailors, interned in Germany for the period of the war.

Against this total of 356 there are interned in this country about 5,000 nationals of Germany. This includes 1,210 prisoners of war at Fort McPherson, Georgia, most of whom were seamen on German ships seized when America entered the war. Alien enemies interned at Fort Oglethorpe number 839, and 432 alien enemies are at Fort Douglas, Utah. Between 2,000 and 2,500 prisoners taken from German merchantmen are at Hot Springs, Va., in charge of the Department of Labor.

Three U. S. Soldiers Reported Missing Are War Prisoners

WASHINGTON, June 8.—Three American soldiers previously reported missing in action to-day were reported prisoners of war. They are First Lieutenant Charles W. Maxson, 1739 North Broadway, Baltimore; Private Lawrence Perlmutter, 16 East Eleventh Street, New York City (unwounded); and Louis Sandler, 2211 South Sixth Street, Philadelphia.

Sergeant Pilon Kerwood, of Bryn Mawr, Penn., also is reported a prisoner of war, unwounded. The adjutant general has received through the Red Cross word that Aviator Thomas Hitchcock, a prisoner of war, has been transferred to the prison at Gissen.

Flying Cadet Dies of Injuries
PORT WORTH, Tex., June 8.—Roscoe Woods, of Milwaukee, flying cadet at Carruthers Field, died Friday night at the base hospital, Camp Bowie, as the result of injuries received when he crashed from a height of about 2,000 feet late Wednesday.

Germans Resting for New Blow, Paris Thinks

Their Momentary Relaxation Not Believed to Mean Cessation of Offensive

(By Cable to The Courier des Etats-Unis)

PARIS, June 7.—The "Petit Journal" believes the Germans will renew the offensive as soon as their troops have had a chance to rest. It says:

"So long as the Germans had only to do with troops inferior both in number and armament, they were able, even with their weakened soldiers, reinforced by some fresh divisions, to progress without giving a thought to the fatigue of their men. But when, owing to the intervention of our reserves, the struggle became harder, the fatigue which the enemy command had until then regarded as a negligible element, made itself felt and had to be taken into account."

"The Germans have stopped their assaults simply in order to permit their men to take a breath, have their artillery advance and make sure of their supplies. It would, however, be an error to think that this momentary relaxation implies a cessation of the offensive."

The officers named were Captain Rufus F. Montgall, Kansas City, Mo., and Lieutenant Hamlet P. Jones, Kaufman, Texas, killed in action; Lieutenant Lester L. Meyer, Glendale, Cal., died of aeroplane accident, and Lieutenants Harry L. Dunn, Santa Barbara, Cal.; George D. Jackson, Kingwood, W. Va.; Chester F. Wright, Waterloo, Iowa, and Thomas H. Wylie, Newport, R. I., wounded severely.

(Names with no rank given are those of privates.)

New Belgian Premier Grateful to America

WASHINGTON, June 8.—M. Gerard Corman, the new Premier of Belgium, informally notifying Secretary Lansing to-day of his appointment, expressed the profound gratefulness of the Belgian people for the aid given them by the United States, and declared the fact that American and Belgian soldiers now are fighting side by side was an "auspicious harbinger" of the fruitful relations of the two countries when peace comes.
